

What is Peace Partners?

Peace Partners is a Network of Congregations linked through the Episcopal Peace Fellowship. The network will strengthen congregational peace and justice ministries and give the EPF local new roots across the country.

Why should a Congregation Join Peace Partners?

The Peace Partners network will advertise the congregation, offer valuable services to congregations and support the great work of the Episcopal Peace Fellowship. When families and individuals are looking for a new congregation/parish, they will be attracted to a place that identifies themselves as a Peace Congregation.

As long term EPF member, Ida Mae Patteson (Knoxville, TN) said: "When I went to look for a new parish, I needed to find one that acted on their commitment to Peace. I wanted a parish where we could have an EPF chapter". Parish priest, Ted Curtis (Chicago, IL) said, "This is great for our congregation; it will let folks seeking a peace centered parish know what we do and where we are".

*Each Peace Congregation will be listed in the EPF Peace Directory to be placed on the web site of the National Church, Episcopalians for Global Reconciliation, Episcopal Urban Caucus, and other organizations and diocesan web sites. The Peace Directory is a way to advertise the work of the congregation.

*Peace Congregations will be welcome to use the EPF constant contact account to send attractive e-mails to large groups.

*EPF will communicate regularly with Peace Congregations by sending resources and providing tools to strengthen Partners in their peace and justice ministries.

*Peace Congregations will receive a decal identifying them as a peace congregation

*Peace Congregations will receive a beautiful poster of the Icon of Bishop Paul Jones, created for EPF by the Rev. Robert Two Bulls, artist, priest, and member of the National Executive Council of EPF.
